The New Lenox township election held Tuesday was a very quiet affair only a total of 74 votes being cast in the two precincts of the township.

Officers elected without a contest are:

Town clerk Ceward Batson; for assessor Homer Kemp, for collector Thomas Carey; for justices of the Peace, Chas. Pease and R. Melvin Whitaker, for constables Louis Hoffman and Dewey Moore. School trustee Laura J. Morris.

At the town meeting the voters approved a budget for $3000 for town purposes. No relief levies are made as this fund has a surplus on hand.

FARMERS MEET WITH FRANKFORT FIRE DEPT.

More than 80 farmers met with the Frankfort Volunteer Fire Dept. at the last regular meeting held Tuesday at the Village hall for the purpose of drawing up a new set of by-laws and making the proper changes in the boundary lines for the rural districts now under fire protection. Since the building of new roads and the improvement of others, the district has become much larger than it was when the association was organized in 1938. Then pledges were sold to farmers with the understanding they were transferable to new tenants or owners. The changes in that time have been so numerous it was not clear to the fire department whose farms were under protection and whose were not covered. After viewing the new equipment which was purchased recently mostly for the benefit of rural pledge owners, the group agreed to pay $3.00 per owner to help finance the cost of the new pumper. There are about 170 pledge owners. President of the department, Geo. Sangmeister, appointed the following committee to meet and draw up the by-laws and districts: Clarence Cleveland who resides west of the village, Edwin Dralle, south; Wm. Hansen, east and Ant Geuther north. Ora Andrews will represent Lincoln Estates.

The next regular meeting of the Frankfort school PTA will be held at the school Wednesday April 11 at 8:00 pm. Paul Ohman, probation officer of the Will County Court House in Joliet, will be the guest speaker. The public is welcome to attend.

Mokena Civic Group To Compile Local History

Mrs. Norna Lee Browning, a renowned writer for the Chicago Tribune, is working in conjunction with the Mokena Civic Association to compile a history of Mokena.

Mrs. Browning will begin her research work starting this Saturday. She will be accompanied by one of the staff photographers and they will interview all the old residents possible within the allotted time.

Robert Schlacks, president of the Association will accompany Mrs. Browning and the photographer to various places for interviews and to gather material for this history. If you have any information that you think will be of assistance in this compilation you are respectfully requested to co-operate and contact Mr. Schlacks who will bring Mrs. Browning and the photographer to you.

No doubt this history will appear in an early Sunday issue of the Tribune. This is our opportunity to get together and give Mokena a real boost. LET'S GO.

FRANKFORT CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN FAILS

An effort to stage a cleanup week in Frankfort failed Monday evening at the Village Board meeting when no bids for the hauling of rubbish were received and unless some other arrangements can be made, it will be up to the residents to dispose of their own rubbish.

Village President Geo. Sangmeister said he received several complaints on inadequate drains and culverts since many basements were flooded after Monday's heavy rain.

Action will soon be taken to condemn unsightly barns and sheds in the village.

Owners of sidewalks with projecting slabs of concrete will be asked to level them as a safety measure. There was no new business.

Pfc. Hirsch is a sniper in Gen. Patch's 7th army.

Mr. Karl Hirsch sends a box of food each week to his son, who writes they are so glad, as they do not get much food and are always hungry.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE LINCOLN ESTATES COMMUNITY CLUB:

To all those who came out to attend the meeting of the Community Club which was scheduled for last Wednesday evening and found the Ann Rutledge school dark, this is to advise that this was due to no fault of the officers of the club, but was occasioned by the refusal of the President of the School Board to permit the key to be given to the Club for opening, although investigation reveals the law covering the use of the school other than class room activities indicates that such refusal was not within the right of the board except where a contagious epidemic exists.

Signed,
WALTER HOWTON,
President Community Club.

Cadets Visit WLS Transmitter Station

First row: S/Sgt. Dan Vermuelen, Cpl. Donald Heath, Pvt. Louis Olson, S Sgt. Ray Gebaner, S Sgt. Howard Shippe, Lt. Wollack.

Second row: S Sgt. John Anderson, Ray Olson, S Sgt. Harry Zahler, S Sgt. Lois Brant, Sally Cadenhead, Bob Trykell, Ray Enefeld, S Sgt. Chas. Kreuger.

On a recent Sunday, 14 Cadets from Squadron 613-3 were taken on a tour thru the WLS-WENR Transmitter Station by Lt. Walter Wolak and Lt. John VanVorst. This tour was made to show Cadets how the station operated and to aid them in their radio classes. Mr. A. J. Forbach of the station staff, conducted the tour.

Transmitter Station WLS-WENR, located southwest of Tinley Park receives all its programs from Chicago by telephone wires. The broadcast is then filtered out of all foreign sounds and transmitted over a frequency of 890 kc. at 50,000 watts. They also have a 5,000 watt stand by transmitter for emergency.

Some of the radio tubes we saw were quite large. One in particular came crated in a box about 6' high and 2 1/2' square. Another was a water cooled tube about 4' long and 10' in diameter which cost $1,685. If something happens to one of these water cooled tubes the station switch over to the stand by transmitter. It takes 30 minutes or more to change a tube. There were a number of other water cooled tubes which had fins on them, which reminded me of the cylinder on a Waco.

Next we went into the control room where we saw a number of control boxes about 6'x4'x1' in size. The main box has 2300 volts running thru it. There is a relay on each of the control box doors which switch the current from it to another, in case of an emergency. As a safeguard for the employees, there are electric contacts on each box that cuts the current in an emergency. In the basement they have a diesel motor that develops 2300 volts, to be used when needed.

The station is heated in a very peculiar way! In the basement are two large tanks, filled with distilled water, which is pumped to and around the water cooled tubes. The water is made hot by the intense heat from the tubes, then run thru a series of pipes into a large steel box. There a fan blows air across the hot pipes after which the heated air is then blown thru the station.

The thing that amazed me most was the cleanliness of the station. Mr. Forbach showed us the cleaning assignment, which consisted of 3 sheets of paper about 2 1/2' long and which lists all the equipment that has to be cleaned daily and weekly.

We learned that farmers living within a mile or so of the station receive too much volume and too much static to be able to enjoy the programs.

In 1944 the station was off the air 1 minute and 22 seconds. The antenna is 526 feet high. Cadets who earned the trip by high grades in Communications Class are as follows:

New Lenox Reviving Locker Plant

A great many people residing in this area are of the opinion that a locker plant located in New Lenox would render a valuable service to the community and be of vital importance in the food conservation program. Previous efforts to establish such a plant were not followed to a conclusion and since enough people have expressed a desire for a locker to more than justify its construction, a group of local people have organized to sponsor this project.

It has been impossible to personally contact everyone in the area but believing that many residents are interested in any movement which would further the war effort and at the same time be of benefit to the community, a circular letter has been mailed asking assistance in furnishing certain information required by the War Production board. The following questionnaire accompanied the letter:

Name— Address— From which of the following do you derive your principal income? Farming—War Work—Salaried Employee—Business of your own—Other sources—

Do you now have one or more lockers?—Where located?—Would you change your locker to New Lenox if a plant were available?—

Approximately how many miles would you save monthly?—Are you on the waiting list of any locker now in operation?—How many lockers do you desire when they become available?—

Locker rentals will not be solicited until such time as the War Production Board has had an opportunity to review the questionnaires. If favorable consideration is granted, one of the following committee will contact those interested regarding formal application: L M Boynton, Geo J. Domke, Dr. Ernest Plotow, L. E. Frey, Howard C. Porter.

Considerable interest has been displayed in this project, but inasmuch as space in the locker plant will be limited the first applications for rental will be given prior consideration.

Saxton Bros. Get Mokena Rubbish Job

The monthly meeting of the Mokena Village Board held Tuesday evening was a matter of quick routine. The board awarded the job of hauling and disposing of the village rubbish to Saxton Bros., in their bid of $64. No ashes or garbage is to be mixed with the rubbish. The annual cleanup date sometime in May will be announced later.

The following were appointed to serve on the election board for the village election to be held Tuesday, April 17th:

The election will be held in the village hall the polls being open from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Fred Yunker drainage matter was again brought up but no action was taken.

Orland Highway Com. Re-elected In Hot Fight

Over 600 votes were polled in Orland Township in the town election Tuesday in which Fred E. Yunker was re-elected as supervisor, Elmer Newton as town clerk, Robert Davidson as collector and Lester Sayers as school trustee without opposition.

The contest centered on assessor, justice of the peace and constable in which John Klein defeated Chas. Erickson for the office of assessor; Carl Bormet was re-elected highway commissioner defeating his opponent Clarence Bettenhausen by quite a wide margin.

In the race of justice of the peace there was a 3 cornered fight in which Ray Brennan and Clifford Raschke were the victors. Sherman Knox, Jr. a new comer in the political arena who was defeated in this race did remarkably well polling a very substantial vote.

The office of constable calling for the election of 2 of these officers was sought by five contenders. The winners were John Cole, Sinclair oil dealer at Alpine and Carl Quigley, Wabash depot agent at Orland Park. The total returns of the 3 precinct of the township are as follows:

For Supervisor Fred E. Yunker, 648; for town clerk, Elmer Newton, 641; for assessor Chas. Erickson 362; John Klein 386, for collector Robert Davidson 649; for highway commissioner Carl Bormet 446, Clarence Bettenhausen 294; for justices of the peace, Ray Brennan 444, Clifford Raschke 468; Sherman Knox Jr. 333, for constable Louis Smith 9, John Cole 193, Carl Quigley 210; Jeff Ludwig 116, Martin Uthe 109, for school trustee Lester Sayers 528.

At the town meeting a tax levy of $3000 for the township budget for town purposes was approved.

BETTY MANDELLA BECOMES BRIDE OF SGT. DANIEL RUETTIGER

Miss Betty Mandella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Mandella, 512 Mohawk St., Joliet became the bride of Sgt. Daniel Ruettiger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Ruettiger, New Lenox at a nuptial high mass read Monday morning in St. Bernard's Catholic church. The Rev. Francis Blum officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her attendants were Miss Eileen Ruettiger, maid of honor, Miss Betty Ruettiger, and Miss Norma Jean Carugati, bridesmaids. Little Rita Mandella was the ring bearer. Leonard Rittoff served Sgt. Ruettiger as best man, Roger Ruettiger and Jack Bowlan as attendants. Leo Ruettiger, Dewey Ruettiger, Lambert Ruettiger and Dominic Mandella were the ushers.

The bride was very pretty in a floor length gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with a hoop skirt and long train, a fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline that was trimmed in lace. The long tight fitting sleeves were also trimmed with edgings of lace. Her veil fell from a seed pearl head dress. She carried a pearl rosary and white prayer book and an arm bouquet of white roses tied with white ribbons. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Eileen Ruettiger, sister of the groom, wore a baby blue colored floor length gown. The form fitting bodice was of blue taffetta, while the full skirt was of blue net over blue satin. It was fashioned with short puff sleeves and sweetheart neckline. She wore long blue fingerless gloves and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses tied with yellow ribbons, and wore a short blusher veil.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of pink, similar to that of the maid of honor fashioned with elbow length sleeves and they wore short blusher veils. Their arm bouquets were made up of pink and red roses tied with pink ribbons.

A powder blue taffetta dress trimmed with white lace was worn by the flower girl and she carried a white satin pillow bearing the ring. She wore white ribbons in her hair.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue dress with blue accessories and wore a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Ruettiger wore a grey print dress with black accessories and also wore a corsage of orchids.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the Woodruff hotel.

A wedding dinner was served at 3 o'clock to the members of the bridal party and a few relatives and friends in the home of the brides parents. A reception was held that night between 7 and 12 for all relatives and friends in St. Stephen's hall in Joliet.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip the bride wore a powder blue crepe dress with black and white accessories. Sgt. Ruettiger who graduated with the class of 1940 from Joliet Catholic high school has been in service for 38 months and returned recently from spending 33 months in overseas service. He will return this week to report for duty with the Army Air Corp at Santa Ana, Cal. and his bride will remain here with her parents for the present.

New Lenox Citizens Petition Court For Special Election

Following a campaign of information on the merits of incorporated municipalities waged by a group of New Lenox citizens headed by Lee Brownlee last fall and the past winter, a definite move has been made to bring the matter of incorporating the village of New Lenox to a head by the filing of a petition last Friday in the office of County Clerk Joseph H. Hartley of Will County petitioning the judge of the Will County Court to call for a special election on the issue. The petition as filed signed by 100 citizens residing in the area of the proposed incorporation read as follows:

We, the undersigned, being more than 100 electors residing within the hereinafter described contiguous area, not already within the corporate limits of any municipality, and said hereinafter described contiguous area having resident within it at least 300 inhabitants, do hereby petition as follows:

1. That the following described area of contiguous real estate, to-wit: The East one half of the Northeast quarter, sec. 21. The West one half of the Northeast quarter, Sec. 22. The East one half of the East one half of Sec. 16. The West one half of the West one half of Sec. 15.

All in New Lenox township, which said hereinbefore described real estate does not exceed two square miles in area and is intended to be embraced in the proposed village of New Lenox.

2. The number of inhabitants residing within the territory described in Paragraph 1 of this petition is 500.

3. The name of the proposed village is the Village of New Lenox, situated in Will County, Illinois.

4. Your petitioners pray that a question be submitted to the electors residing within the limits of the proposed Village of New Lenox as shown in the description of the real estate contained in numbered Paragraph one of this petition, as to whether or not said hereinbefore described territory will incorporate as a village in accordance with the terms and provisions of the Revised Cities and Villages Act of the State of Illinois now in full force and effect.

The village of New Lenox was first named Tracy in honor of Supt. Tracy of the Rock Island Lines altho the township was named New Lenox in memory of Lenox, New York from which many of the early settlers of the township came, but later the name of the village was changed to the same name as that of the township.

New Lenox has greatly developed in recent years with the opening of new subdivisions. Many new homes and business places have been built and the residents of the village feel that they are in need of street lighting, water systems and sewer as well as police and fire protection and that these improvements can best be secured thru incorporation and a local government, hence the move to incorporate. Date for the election is to be announced later. O. I. Lewis of 134 S. LaSalle St., Chicago is the attorney for the petitioners for incorporation.

In Green Garden township the election Tuesday was light owing to the fact but one ticket was in the field. A total of 50 votes were cast as follows:

For town clerk Walter P. Jacobs 50; for assessor Martin H. Harms 49 for collector Walter Bauer, 50, for justices of the peace Geo. F. Bobzin 50; Emil M. Rab 49, for constables Ruben Schmidt 49, Donald C. Wilke 45, for school trustee Carl Nagel 49.

Children at Home Aboard Coast Guard Transports at Sea

Troop transports now consider the nursery as a "must." Thousands of refugees, repatriates and babies of U. S. servicemen are being brought to the United States aboard the U. S. coast-guard-manned troop transports, moving east from the Orient and west from Europe. Most of the children are bewildered but soon receive reassurance from Red Cross workers and members of the ships' crew.

Navajo 'Dust Bowl' Brings Disaster to Indians

Economic disaster for 55,000 Indians is rapidly taking form in the rugged mesas of the Navajo country in Arizona and New Mexico. A million or more sheep are the direct cause of the potential blight. The real problem of the Indian Office is the overpopulation of Indians upon comparatively unproductive, deteriorated lands.

Man-Eating Tigers in Burma

Cpl. G. A. McCrary, Centralia, Ill., combat military police, and Carol Hagerman, Kansas City, Mo., Red Cross worker, shown with the 250-pound man-eating tiger killed by the couple in Burma. Servicemen and women on the Burma front have organized several successful tiger hunts in this war theater during the last year.

No Fish Shortage at Wauconda

This is the sight, and the smell, that greeted residents around Slocum Lake, Wauconda, Ill., when the ice went out. More than 100 tons of dead fish were washed ashore when the ice melted. Unfit for food, their only use will be as fertilizer, a shortage of which exists in many sections of the nation. Despite their condition they can be used.

Beethoven Standing

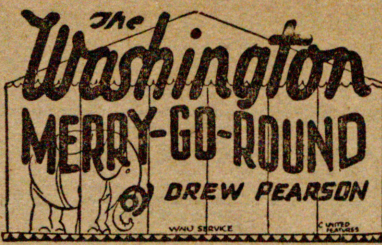

After the symphony of war had thundered through his home town of Bonn, Germany, most of the city was left in ruins, but the statue honoring Ludwig van Beethoven, one of the great composers, still stands in the town square.

Child Oscar Award

Margaret O'Brien is shown with the "Oscarlette," presented her by Bob Hope, for the best child movie actress of 1944. This is the first year she has been included in movie hall of fame.

A REPORT ON GERMANY

Hard-boiled Leon Henderson did some tough talking to President Roosevelt when he arrived back from his economic survey of occupied Germany.

Henderson was sent by the White House to consult with General Eisenhower regarding the economic setup in Germany after the Armistice. But, while the former OPA administrator has kept very mum about it, he was quite critical in his verbal report to the President regarding negligence on the part of the army, the state department and the Anglo-American-Russian commission in London regarding plans for running Germany.

Henderson told FDR that neither the U. S. military nor the state department had done anything except the sloppiest sort of planning about running the difficult German civilian economy after the armistice. U. S. Ambassador John Winant in London, Henderson indicated, had been sitting on his haunches as a member of the tripartite commission supposed to look into this, but doing nothing.

Henderson reported that the plan for cutting Germany up into three different sections under the British, American and Russian armies simply would not work economically. He pointed out that the German railroads were set up to work as a unit, not in three different sections. Likewise with German industries. Henderson proposed, therefore, that German civilian economy be run by a civilian commission representing the Allies which would have charge of the entire country. He also proposed that the military take orders from the civilian high commission.

What the President will do about the Henderson report remains to be seen. When he suggested that Henderson go back to Germany, the hard-boiled ex-OPA administrator refused. He said it was impossible to work under the present setup. Instead he will go to China to make a study of price controls for Chiang Kai-shek.

(Note — What some White House advisers fear is that the same chaos and inflation which killed democratic government in Germany after the last war once again will become so ruinous that the German people will fall back on another Hitler or Kaiser.)

G.I. JOE AT PEACE TABLE

More and more state legislatures and members of congress are urging that a G.I. Joe sit at the peace table; also that he begin by sitting in at the important San Francisco United Nations conference. Some further propose that Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state and the man who originally planned for the peace machinery, attend the San Francisco conference, perhaps as adviser to the soldier delegate or as an unbiased observer with no axe to grind either for or against any one political party.

The Maryland and Rhode Island legislatures are the latest to push the idea of a G.I. Joe at the peace table, resolutions being introduced by Charles M. See of Cumberland, Md., and Joseph Mills of Warwick, R. I. The Texas and South Carolina legislatures have already passed resolutions, while Senator Johnston of South Carolina and Representative Jackson of Washington have introduced resolutions in the U. S. congress urging that the G.I. Joe attend the San Francisco conference as a starter to the final peace session. They propose that he be no higher than the rank of sergeant.

Note — The Iowa poll, conducted by the Des Moines Sunday Register, found that an overwhelming majority of Iowans, 83 per cent, favored having a member of the armed forces at the peace table.

DEMOCRATIC JOE STILWELL

Gen. Joe Stilwell has always rated high with his men. Now that he's stationed in Washington as chief of the army ground forces, he still has the reputation of looking out for them.

The other day, Washington realtor Col. Gus Ring, who is used to getting phone calls from all sorts of important apartment hunters, was surprised to find General Stilwell walk in his office and ask for an apartment. Stilwell didn't want the apartment for himself, but had traveled all the way across Washington to try to get an apartment for the widow of one of Stilwell's junior officers who had been killed in action.

Note—He got the apartment.

CAPITOL CHAFF

Henry Wallace and Loan Administrator Fred Vinson are getting together to discuss plans for coordinating the 60,000,000-job program.

As Wallace looked around the room in Jesse Jones' old loan office, he said: "I just want to see where the bodies are buried."

Credit Republican Senator Austin of Vermont with doing one of the best jobs at the recent Mexico City conference. Though not a trained diplomat, Austin was a tower of sound advice to the U. S. delegation.

THE BOOK AND THE FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Psalm 145:10-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—The word of the Lord endureth forever.—I Peter 1:25.

Christians are the people of one book—the Bible. They read and use other books, but the book is God's Word, and everything else must be in accord with its teaching.

In this blessed Book they find the only revelation of God's saving grace. Other attributes of God may be found in the book of nature. There we find that God is powerful, orderly, wise, etc., but nowhere in nature is it written that God can save a man from his sin. We find that only in the Bible, God's written Word as it reveals Jesus Christ the Saviour who is the Living Word.

I. The Eternal Glory of God's Kingdom (vv. 10-13).

The kingdom of God refers to His reign over all things and beings, but with special reference to those who are willingly subject to Him and eager to live for His glory.

Everything in God's creation is to be lifted up in praise of that kingdom. All His works shall praise Him. They reveal Him in part, but even that limited revelation is glorious. The man who cannot see God in nature is indeed a dull clod. The heavens declare His glory and the earth shows forth His handiwork (Ps. 19:1).

Greater and more precious in God's sight is the praise of His saints. Dumb adoration is acceptable only from a dumb creation. We, His saints, are to speak His praise, to "bless" Him (v. 10). We are to spread abroad among all men (v. 12) the news of God's greatness and goodness.

"His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom," and thus it at once takes its place as so superior to what men call kingdoms as hardly to be mentioned in the same breath. There is no limit to God's kingdom either in its extent or its duration.

How stupid then that some, yes many, foolish men and women set themselves up in rebellion against God. That is the height of all folly and leads only to disaster. How wise are those who yield their lives to His control that their little span of life may find rich meaning in the One who endures forever.

II. The Abundant Provision of God's Mercy (vv. 14-16).

We are all completely dependent on the mercies of God for everything that we need for life—physical, mental, and spiritual.

Consider the food for the body. God opens His bountiful hand and every living creature is provided with the food necessary for its sustenance. How this is accomplished is a mystery and a marvel to us, but God is able to do it.

Centuries ago men were fearful that the earth could not produce enough food to keep the increasing population of mankind alive, but God sees to that even when He has to do it in spite of man's waste and destruction.

However, life is not just material. There must be a satisfying of man's spiritual nature. He needs someone to save him from his own sinful weakness, to deliver him from his sorrow and affliction. Who can do this but God? And He does it (see v. 14).

How does He do it? Through the ministry of His Holy Word. Therein man finds salvation and satisfaction. The Bible is the light that shines upon his way. It is his comfort in sorrow and his strength in temptation. It exhorts and encourages, convicts and cures.

How endless and how overflowing is the mercy of our God. Let us "wait upon" Him, knowing that He is not only mindful of our need, but eager to do for us more than we can ask or think.

III. The Saving Power of God's Grace (vv. 17-19).

The Lord, who "is nigh unto all them that call upon him" (v. 18), is able to save because He is "righteous in all his ways and holy in all his works" (v. 17). Only a just and holy God can deal with sin, and yet only a merciful God would provide redemption; but in our God mercy and truth meet (Ps. 115:1; Ps. 103). He is both "just and the justifier of him that believeth in Jesus" (Rom. 3:26).

He it is who is near to all that "call upon him in truth" (v. 18), and surely it is such a calling on the Lord which is in mind in Romans 10:13, where we read that "whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

Notice that God's nearness, His salvation, and His fulfillment of the desires of man are for those who call on Him and who "fear Him" (v. 19). This is not a matter of magical use of a name, or an outward profession of faith. It must come from the heart, and when it does, God responds.

So we find God's word to be the source of our instruction concerning those things which can make us wise unto salvation (II Tim. 3:15). It is the Book of our faith!

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling. Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

SERVICEMEN'S LETTERS Holland, Feb. 16, 1945

Citizen Service Com. Please don't think I've forgotten about the wonderful work of the Service Com. and all you are doing for us boys. I'll have to admit I've been awful slow in sending my thanks to everyone for the very nice Christmas box you sent me, even though the box did arrive about twenty five days late it was really welcome. In fact we were much to busy Christmas day to even know that it was a holiday.

I received your most welcome letter yesterday and sure would enjoy totting those bottles around again. I usually get razed a little when the boys hear that song, "Milkman Keep Those Bottles Quiet." Emory and I were pretty close together a few weeks ago but didn't get a chance to see each other.

I've been receiving the Tinley Times quite regular and really enjoy reading the home town news. I'll have to be signing off now and go pull a little guard. So will close with best wishes to all the folks from home that have been doing a very good job of taking care of all the boys and girls.

Thanks a million for everything. As ever, Paul Nielsen

Sheppard Field, Texas Feb. 14, 1945

Dear Friends: Just a few lines to leave you know my new address. I am now in the Air Corps at Sheppard Field, Texas so that's quite a change for me after serving almost four years in the Infantry. It isn't too bad thus far, but the routine is quite different from what I was accustomed to. I have been temporarily disqualified for overseas duty so I will serve some time in the States anyway. I will be re-examined again in June and that will tell the story.

I would like to tell all the people from Tinley how I enjoyed my recent leave in Tinley but as yet haven't been able to find words to describe it. I sure had a wonderful time and would like to thank all my friends for making it an enjoyable leave. I would also like to thank them all for their kind words of appreciation I received.

At this time I would like to say hello to all the boys from Tinley in the Service and all my friends in Tinley.

Sincerely, Johnnie Lehman

Philippine Islands Friday, Feb. 3, 1945

Dear Friends: Received your letter yesterday that you sent the 30th Dec. I was very glad to hear from you. I suppose it is rather cold in Illinois right now. The last letter from the folks they said it was 12 below. I don't know how I'll get used to cold weather again, been in warm climates so long.

Well folks we have made another move as you probably know by this time. It seemed to be rather nice country especially after New Guinea. It is plenty hot here. Well I guess

I'll close for now hoping this finds you all in the very best of health. So long for now and God bless you all. As always, Your friend, Oliver Barr

France Feb. 1, 1945

Dear Friends: I guess its about time I'm writing you a few lines to let you know I'm OK. Received your package awhile back and want to thank you all very much for it. It sure was appreciated. I am receiving the Tinley Times all the time altho they were rather late during the Christmas rush as was to be expected.

We've been having quite a lot of snow and cold weather here lately, seem to have either rain or snow here almost every day.

I was very lucky the other weekend as I got to spend several days in Paris. That sure is a large and beautiful city. I had a swell time seeing the city. Well I guess I'll sign off for now. Thanks again for everything.

Sincerely yours, Fred Meyer

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Unreality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 8.

The Golden Text was, "Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment" (John 7: 24).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent. Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?" (1 Cor. 1: 19, 20; 1 Cor. 2: 14).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The realities of being, its normal action, and the origin of all things are unseen to mortal sense; whereas the unreal and imitative movements of mortal belief, which would reverse the immortal modus and action, are styled the real. . . The testimony of the corporeal senses cannot inform us what is real and what is delusive, but the revelations of Christian Science unlock the treasures of Truth. . . The physical senses can take no cognizance of God and spiritual Truth. Human belief has sought out many inventions

Dear Friends:

Well just a few lines to let you know that I got your box of candy and want to thank you for it. It was good. I and the boys went to town on it. It must keep someone busy to send candy to us boys and you don't know how us boys feel, to know that you are thinking of us and what a grand job you are all doing. Just keep up the good work and we will do the rest.

I don't think the Germans can hold out much longer but you can't tell. They still got plenty. I am writing this letter four feet under ground and I made a stove from a five gallon oil can and made the stove pipe from tin cans.

Our guns just started firing again, every time our big guns fire we always say, "Now count your Jerries." They keep firing day and night. Will close now and pray to see you all soon, all my love, and God Bless you all.

SHOULD WE INCREASE THE NUMBER OF OUR NATIONAL CEMETERIES?

Bills are now pending in Congress calling for the establishment of additional national cemeteries in various parts of the nation.

Visitors at National Cemeteries are impressed with their beauty and the manner in which they are maintained. Few families, however, desire to have their loved ones laid away in a cemetery like Arlington, for instance hundreds of miles away, which they cannot hope to visit more than once or twice in a lifetime. It is, of course, not feasible for the government to construct and maintain cemeteries within easy access to all parts of the broad expanse of our 48 states.

Bills now pending in Congress contemplate one or two national cemeteries for each state. The question is, would they be utilized sufficiently to make there establishment and maintenance worth while?

It is interesting to note that there are now 77 existing national cemeteries and of the many millions of men who have served in all wars from the Revolution to the present date only 452,272 are interred in them. This is estimated as about 3 percent of the total deceased veterans of all wars.

It is also estimated that there is now, in existing national cemeteries space for 600,000 additional interments. It would seem to be a more sound program for the government to make an allotment for the burial of every veteran and permit his family to choose the burial ground. The American Legion has endorsed such a policy.

Future Farmers of America Hold Annual Banquet

The Future Farmers of America held their annual Parent and Son Banquet March 26, at 7 o'clock in the Ottawa Street Methodist church. There were 108 Future Farmers, parents and guests present.

Rev. Paul Saunders gave the invocation which was followed by the dinner. After the dinner Gordon Smith, toastmaster for the evening, conducted the Opening Ceremony. Then a welcome to parents and guests was given by Mr. Myron McKiernan, due to the absence of Bill Phelps, followed by the response for the parents which was given by Mr. Herman Christiansen. Mr. Roosevelt Basler gave greetings from the school.

A comedy act by Bob Walker then took place, followed by an Activity Report by Don Stephen. Mr. Maurice Ellison then sang three songs, after which a Project Report of the Advanced Class by Bob McClintock, and Project Report of the Sophomore class by Herbert Dandurand were given. Mr. Elmer Rowley presented to Bob Walker the Public Speaking Contest award which he won at the Section Six Public Speaking contest.

The main speaker of the evening was Dr. A. W. Nolan of the Univ. of Illinois who spoke on Stone Houses. The banquet closed with the salute to the flag.

LOST IN BAD WEATHER AND NEARLY OUT OF GASOLINE

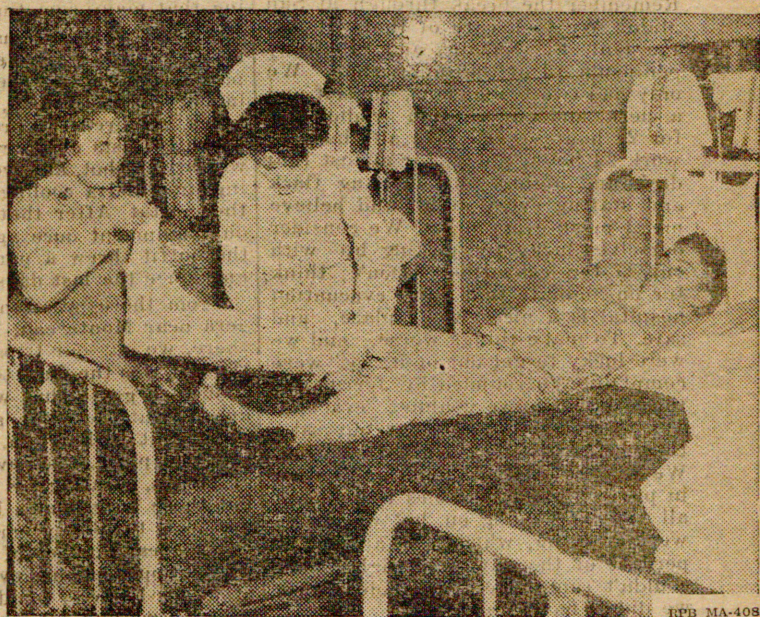

An Eastbound pilot, caught in fog and rain, was sweating out this situation recently, when he spotted a water tank on which he could see a name painted, flying close to it he read "Tinley Park." By referring to his map, which for the last hour had been useless to him, he orientated himself and landed at Prosperi Airport, where he was greeted by Ed Prosperi and Bob Rogers.

This pilot, flying over unfamiliar country was ready to pick out a field and land in it, but was saved from doing so by the thoughtfulness of the air-minded businessmen and citizens of Tinley Park. He was lavish with praise of the citizens of Tinley Park and said he wished more towns were as progressive.

After filling his empty gas tank and waiting for the weather to clear he was on his way again.

WPB officials are still trying to avoid clothes rationing. Do your part by buying only what you need and prevent a buying rush.

Speaking of clothes, hat fashions this spring will feature high crowns and flower trimmings. The sailor is a favorite, also pillboxes, flower turbans, bonnet cloches and berets.

Private dining rooms have been converted into sleeping quarters in several Washington hotels to help ease the room shortage.

Backers of vitaminized margarine are again making a drive to remove the unfair taxes on this nutritious product. You can help by writing your Congressional representatives to vote against such taxation.

Beauty parlors have employed various ways to salvage hairpins, but one New York shop has displayed the most imagination by using a dachshund helper girdled with magnets!

OPA still insists that shoe ration stamps will not be cancelled without advance notice. So you can still make your old ones wear longer with the oil of shinola and save your stamps until you really need them.

War Prisoners Aid

The increasing millions of war prisoners include men of almost every race, and of every profession, occupation and rank. The prince and the peasant, the scientist and the bootblack, the former soldier of fortune and the once sedentary bank clerk, rub elbows in the kaleidoscopic contrasts of the prison camps.

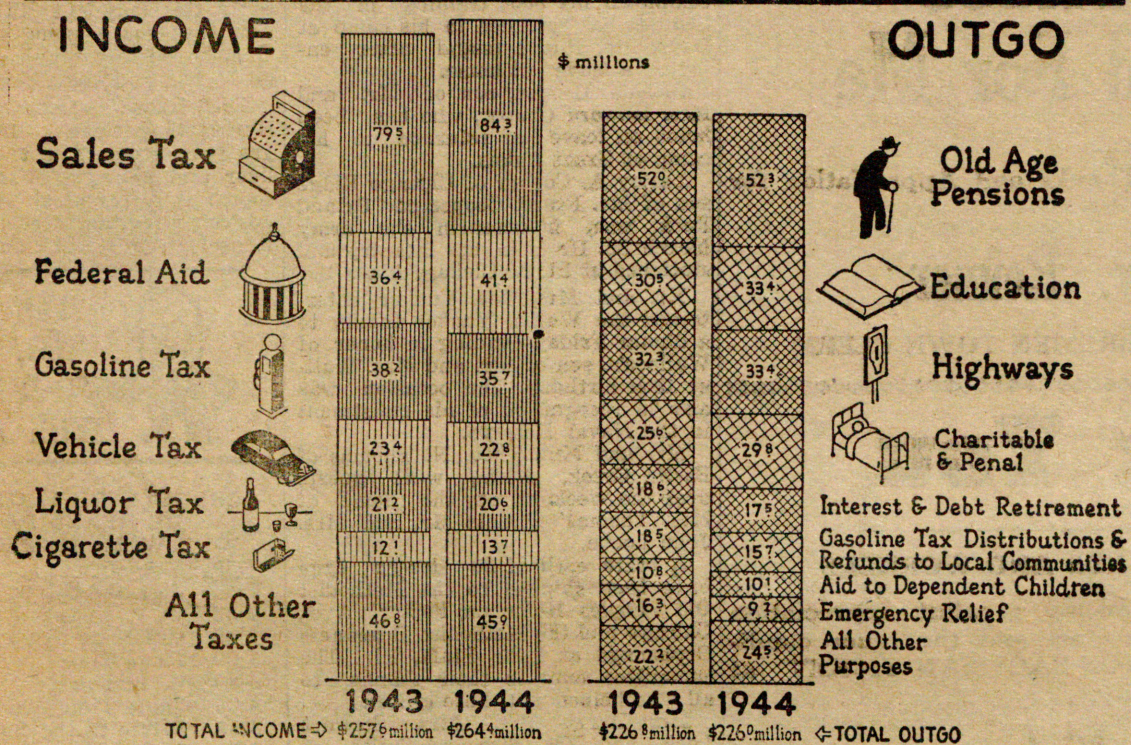

Most of these prisoners are housed in regular camps, but some occupy fashionable hotels, old forts, tents, medieval castles, pagan temples, monasteries and disused reformatories.

Equally striking are the contrasts in occupation frequently found under one roof, by visiting representatives of War Prisoners Aid of the Y.M.C.A., a participating service of the National War Fund, in their rounds to see that prisoners have necessary materials for leisure-time activities. Thus one hut may serve as a chapel, theatre, library, game room, and lecture and music room.

A recent "high" in contrasting activities is reported by a Y.M.C.A. visitor to the British section of Stalag VIII C, Germany. Entering the theatre room, he found a symphony orchestra practicing at one end, while, at the other, the camp's boxers were engaged in training bouts. In the pauses of the music, he could hear the quick padding of the boxers' feet and the whisper and smack of the gloves.

ILLINOIS' WARTIME INCOME SHOWS FURTHER INCREASE

CHICAGO—A $6,776,915 rise in Illinois state revenue, due principally to increases in sales tax collections and Federal aid, is disclosed in the above chart comparing income in the 1944 and 1943 fiscal years, prepared by Barcus, Kindred & Company, specialists in Illinois municipal bonds.

Income exceeded expenditures by $38,450,152 in 1944. With accumulations from the three preceding years, the state had a surplus of $111,847,150 at the beginning of 1945.

Emergency relief payments continued to decline in 1944 because of expanded wartime employment and purchasing power. Revenue from gasoline and vehicle taxes was lower due to rationing and the decreasing number of cars.

Study of other wartime trends in income and outgo, based on analysis of state department of finance figures, reveals that:

Three major sources of income recorded increases. These were: sales tax, with a 5 per cent rise; Federal aid, including old age pensions, allotments for dependent children and for highways, 13.7 per cent; and cigarette tax, 13 per cent. The period covered by the 1944 fiscal year preceded the current cigarette shortage. Decreases in income occurred as follows: gasoline tax, 7 per cent; vehicle tax, 2½ per cent; and liquor tax, 3 per cent.

Expenditures for emergency relief declined 43½ per cent in 1944. Old age pensions and allotments to dependent children showed virtually no change.

A $2,888,738 increase was recorded in expenditures for education, including state aid to local schools, while outlays for highways were up $1,075,954. Gasoline tax distributions and refunds to counties and cities showed a $2,771,072 decrease. The steady decline in such payments in recent years due to necessary wartime gasoline rationing is indicated by the fact that 1944 allotments were 38 per cent below the 1941 level.

Reviewing the state's fiscal situation from the standpoint of local communities, a statement by Barcus, Kindred & Company says:

"Continuance of such items as state aid for schools at a high level is significant. This means that local communities receiving such allotments do not have to resort to increased tax levies for education. As a result, the bonds of these communities are strengthened."

Cotton Sacks Make Smart Clothes for Family

COTTON sacks are doing double duty in these days of fabric shortages, the Home Editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer points out.

With a little ingenuity and various sizes of bags, one can make intriguing things for the home and smart pieces of clothing for the family.

"Applied cherries and red embroidered rickracks give accent to these chic mother-daughter outfits," this Capper's Farmer expert writes. "Rough-weave, bleached cotton sacks were used. When preparing the sacks for sewing, rip the stitching and remove any printing by soaking them overnight in thick soapsuds. In the morning wash them in warm, soapy water, rubbing printed parts between the hands. If this does not remove all marks, boil for 10 minutes in soapy water. Rinse well, dry and press. If you wish, dye plain material to a preferred color.

"Pajamas for this six-year-old boy were made from two 100-pound sacks. The facings are print.

"Twin jumpers made from cotton sacks are another budget-saving costume for mothers and daughters. They can be dyed a bright blue and smartly decorated with red felt apples. Other basic spring and summer outfits may be made from thrifty cotton sacks."

In addition to useful information on styles, wardrobe replenishment and sewing, women readers of Capper's Farmer regularly find interesting features in the magazine on cooking, child care, beauty, gardening and other topics.

"Travel Light" Is Advice to Girls On Wartime Trips

IF YOU must travel these wartime days—maybe to sweetheart, husband, brothers, who can't come to you—arm yourself with a sense of humor, more patience than Job and very little baggage, writes Holly Miller in Capper's Farmer to girls who are going some place farther from home than they've ever been before.

"The primary problem, even before what to wear, is how to get there when you want to," she adds in her column in the nationally-circulated farm magazine. "For short distances, a bus is fine. But for longer jaunts, the train is faster and more comfortable."

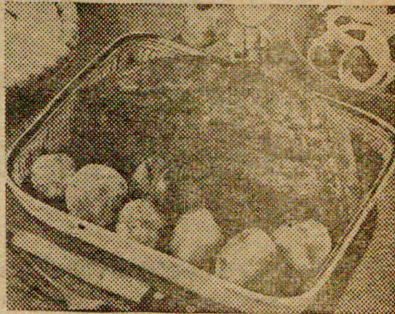

"With passage seen to, the more fascinating issue of what to wear comes up. Save pretty frills for when you arrive. They'll look as tired as you feel if you wear them several days on the train. A suit is ideal for train wear; so are comfortable shoes."

"Don't take more than one suitcase and a small dressing case with you. Save a corner in the suitcase for field rations. Dining cars serve only two meals a day. Don't be afraid of being 'backwoodsy.' These days the wise carry lunch; others wish they had."

"On long trips it is hazardous to carry large sums of cash with you. Buy travelers' checks at your local bank or express office and have enough cash with you to see you to your destination."

"When you're hopelessly confused about a problem, take it to the Information Desk, the conductor or ticket agent—not to fellow travelers. One successful trip and you have a feeling of know-how about traveling."

Mexican Steak Adds Gay Touch to Meal

Glorify the stand-by pot-roast in a south-of-the-border way, advises the Country Cooking editor of Capper's Farmer. Juicy Mexican steak is lean round of beef braised in spicy tomato sauce.

"Surround it with oven-browned potatoes and serve with crisp relishes and fruit pie for dessert," she adds. "A bright-colored cloth on the table puts the whole meal in a gay mood."

Mexican Steak

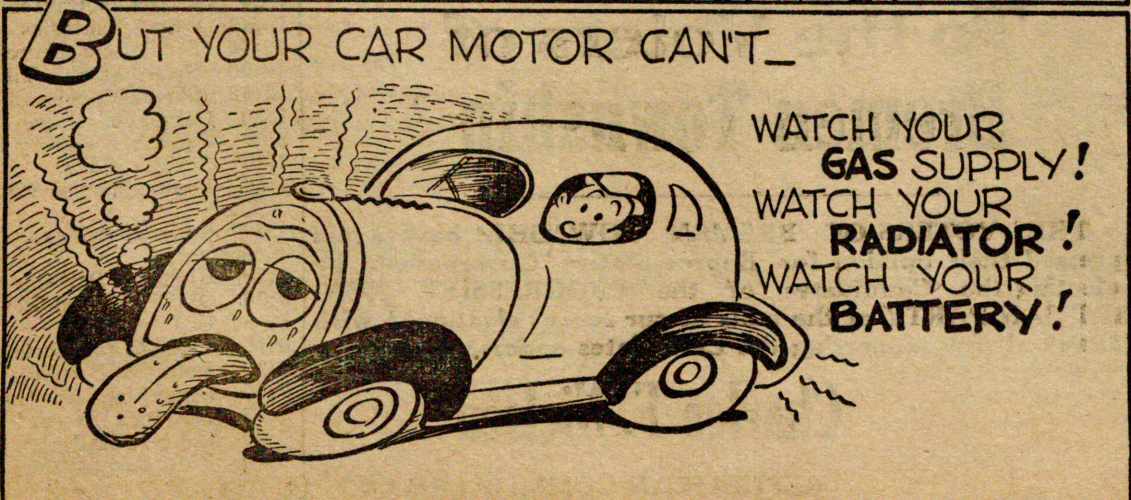

4 lbs. round steak
¾ c. flour
½ tsp. pepper
2 tsp. salt
3 tsp. bacon drippings
2½ c. tomatoes
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 green pepper, chopped
1 c. celery, chopped
1 onion, sliced

Have steak cut 3 inches thick. Season flour with salt and pepper and pound it into meat. Brown steak on both sides in hot drippings. Add remaining ingredients. Cover. Bake at 300 F. for 3 hours. Serves 6.

How to Store Clothes

Best storage place for heavy clothes and furnishings in warm weather is a large closet of average temperature, declares the Home Editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

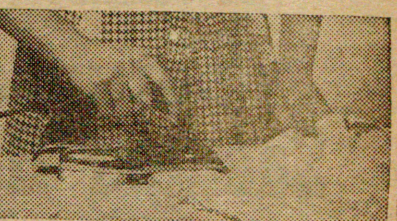

YOUR CAR NEEDS CARE... SUGGESTS THE CHICAGO MOTOR CLUB.

Baby's Wash Needs Lukewarm Water, Plenty of Suds

Woolens and flannels are the most difficult to wash because of shrinking. Much can be done to prevent shrinkage by following the rules of lukewarm water for washing and rinsing, with no wringing or twisting. Do not hang them on the line on a cold day.

Ironing of dresses, rompers and bibs should be done while the clothes are evenly damp. Rayon should be ironed on the wrong side.

Baby's bonnets or caps may be dried to shape over a small bowl, preferably padded.

EVEN the most experienced home laundress approaches with misgivings the washing of baby's tiny garments which look so fragile, according to the Home Editor of Capper's Farmer.

"But most baby things are more sturdy and serviceable than they appear and will give long-time usage under repeated washings if correctly handled," she writes in the Rural Home Department of the nationally-circulated farm magazine. "Baby's clothes should be washed as soon as they show the least sign of soil. Use lukewarm water and plenty of suds. Handle gently without twisting, pulling or rubbing."

"Stains should be taken care of before the garments are put into the suds. Sponge cod-liver oil and washable stains with carbon tetrachloride. Milk, egg and meat-juice spots on linen, lawn or cotton should be soaked in cold water. Stains from orange juice or prune juice may be treated by stretching the cloth tightly over a bowl and pouring on boiling water. Ordinary laundering methods usually will remove iodine stains if the garment is washed while stains are fresh."

14 out of 15 Saved and Raised!
Martin Timmer of Lanark had an electric brooder in readiness when his Chester White farrowed a 15-pig litter. The brooder, along with Martin's care, helped save 14. An example of planned production that really paid off!

"PLANNED PRODUCTION" BOOSTS WARTIME PORK OUTPUT

"Old Hands" at hog raising are learning new tricks. Yes, they're going back to school to attend swine production classes where they're learning that bigger and better pig crops are the result of careful planning and the acceptance of approved hog raising practices.

To help you remove the luck element in hog raising, we offer this quick lesson—if reading it saves you one pig, your time will have been well spent:

WHAT TO DO BEFORE THE DOCTOR COMES

Keep brood sows healthy; feed them rations complete in every respect. Clean pigs start with clean sows and farrowing pens, so scrub pens with lye water; wash sides and udders of sows with warm water and soap before placing the sows in dry, bedded farrowing pens. Keep sows comfortable for easy handling when farrowing.

Have electric brooders on hand to provide the warmth and protection that newly-arrived baby pigs need during their first critical days. Lost baby pigs mean lost feed, lost time, lost profit. Statistics prove that brooders save an average of 1½ more pigs per litter. (Plans for economical, homemade brooders are yours for the asking. Simply phone or drop a card to this company.)

PLAN YOUR PASTURING

Generally speaking, sows and young pigs are moved to clean pastures 2 or 3 weeks after farrowing. Portable hog houses make excellent shelters on ranges; they can easily be shifted to different pastures that have been kept clean and disease-free through crop rotation. Clean clover pastures are good.

LET 'EM MAKE HOGS OF THEMSELVES

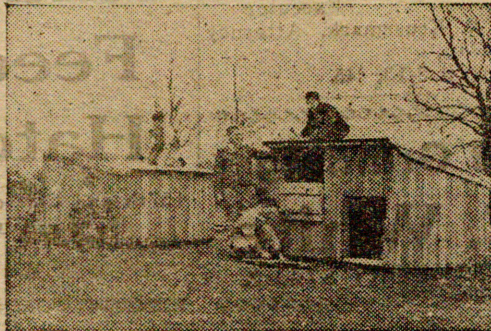

Keep them on the range about four months. Then bring them onto the feeding floor and full-feed them until they hit 200 pounds. Give them plenty of clean, fresh water—a hog that drinks more is healthier, gains faster. And the faster they fatten up, the quicker they go to market... something that "boarders" don't do.

Electricity is available for hog-raising and other farm chores on 86% of the farms in the area served by

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

Warmth and Protection for baby pigs is provided by the twenty electric brooders in use on the Dean Hopkins' farm, Mazon. Now—before baby pigs begin to arrive—is the time to get your brooders ready.

Solve the Housing Problem. Portable hog houses promote sanitation, provide good shelter, can be moved from pasture to pasture with the pigs. Washburn "Ag" students work on these "pig palaces".

Excellent Example of Modern Swine Production can be found on the Norman Reigel farm near Peotone where running water, water warmer, lights, brooders, and cement feeding floor help cut work, boost profits.

The best time for shopping is in the morning or early afternoon. Stores are not crowded, clerks can give you better attention and special offers have not been picked over. You can carry your bundles home on buses that are not so crowded. It's more comfortable to shop between 10:00 A.M. and 3:00 P.M.

CIVIL AIR PATROL SQDN. 613-3
by 2nd Lt. E. Conel

Almost every girl and boy has an early desire to fly. And, it's important that as many as possible—as soon as possible—learn to be capable pilots and technicians. STRONG AIR POWER IS IMPORTANT—NOT ONLY TO WIN THE WAR—BUT TO INSURE THE PEACE; The field of aviation promises exceptional opportunities for life-time careers; And, one of the finest ways to get basic training in necessary ground subjects is in Civil Air Patrol Cadets.

If you're between the ages of 15 and 17—you're eligible to apply for Civil Air Patrol Cadets...and you and your parents should consider these facts.

CIVIL AIR PATROL IS AN AUXILIARY OF THE ARMY AIR FORCES!

Senior Officers work under orders from the U. S. War Department—voluntarily fly on Military Missions. They have done Coastal Patrol—Towed Aerial Gunner Targets—They Inspect Camouflage Installations—Search for lost Army Aircraft—Carry Dispatches and Urgent Shipments—and perform many other war services...proving PATRIOTISM—COURAGE AND ABILITY! There fore, our government, in October of 1942 entrusted Civil Air Patrol with its biggest job—TEACHING THE YOUTH OF AMERICA THE FUNDAMENTALS OF FLYING.

Every Cadet, when engaged in Cadet activities, wears a regulation Army uniform with special C.A.P.C. insignia. Behind this uniform are soldierly traditions that go back to the beginning of history. Behind it, in particular, are the traditions of the United States Army, never defeated in a war, and of the AAF, the mightiest air force in the world!

Under Civil Air Patrol Officer supervision—cadets are eligible to go on Flight Missions—attend camp—and are given a free copy of the "Preflight Study Manual." The Manual outlines the subjects taught in evening classes: subjects which cover all the aviation ground training required for a private license, as well as military courtesies, discipline and drill, Morse Code, first aid, radio, and military aviation training. Many an officer in the Army Air Force has written in to say that he would have been in the ranks if it had not been for this C.A.P.C. background, and many a non-commissioned officer owes his stripes to the head start this training has given him.

A young woman may go directly from CAPC into the exclusive WAC Squadron—open only to Civil Air Patrol members.

Seriously, to any young person in aviation...we suggest you contact

Squadron 613-3 immediately. The training you'll get will make you a better citizen—enable you to do a finer wartime—or peacetime job. And, you'll have made a great stride toward winning the war.

It is urged that ALL Civil Air Patrol members turn out 100% for the Memorial Day Parade to be held in the loop. I will give you more details as soon as they are available!

Squadron 613-3 welcomes Raymond Wise of Dolton, Illinois, who is a veteran of World War 2.

Keith Wheeler's column in a Chicago Daily gives Lt. Col. J. Dougherty credit for this bit of interesting news: At 30,000 feet over Japan the wind blows from the west at velocities ranging from 100 to 200 miles-per-hour, a meteorological phenomenon immensely complicating the work of the B-29s. This gale has the effect of channelizing the big bombers, making it necessary to fly up-wind or down-wind. Bombing down-wind sends them scooting over the target at speeds sometime as high as 500 miles an hour, and the long, slow crawl up-wind exposes them perilously to Japan's highly ack ack. But, it has one effect that the super-forts regard as a boon—it is so strong, that the Jap fighters can stay with them only a short time on the homeward journey.

Lt. Ed Prosperio announces the purchase of two new Cub Cruisers, and one Waco plane equipped with radio, for dual training. This is good news for all C.A.P. members based at Prosperio Airport.

Cadets are having much fun in the current Morse Code Class, now that there are four senders available.

New Story To Start Next Week

A white foal was born on the Goose Bar Ranch—Flicka's foal, her first! And not only off color, but white! A throwback. It was a shock to the 12 year old Ken McLaughlin.

The white foal was named Thunder Head, and about him a whole book was written, a book which is fast becoming as famous as My Friend Flicka, whose sequel it is.

Thunderhead, by Mary O'Hara, is a grand story, a story that comes close to the heart.

It will start running in the News-Bulletin April 13.

The Bankers continued to roll at a fast pace as they won three games from the last place Robins. They now have a winning streak of eight straight games and are still threatening to overtake the first place Smokers although their chances drew slimmer as the Smokers also won three to hold a four game lead. The Oilers continued to roll at a steady pace as they won two games from the Paperhangers to move into a third place tie, with the V-Eighters. Stan Williams had a 203 game for the Paperhangers.

The Smokers eliminated the V-Eighters bid for first place when they took three games thereby setting the V-Eighters back eight games with only six left to roll. The Smokers had their high series of the season so far when they rolled a 2400. H. E. Miller had a 223 game.

Ladies:— I'm pretty sure you think I'm pretty much of a snob or something on that order. It's been the farthest thought in mind though.

Shortly after receiving your wonderful Xmas box, which I did receive just before Xmas, I was transferred to a much larger base or atoll. During the time between December and the present, I have constantly on the move. Arriving at my new base in the Marshall Islands, the detached unit which I was in was immediately put to work. We've hardly had time to breathe, we have been working long hours and seven days a week. I'm willing and ready to do this work and do my part, it just that I haven't had time to thank you wonderful people at home. I want to offer my thanks to you people now.

Their is also thanks from my friends that enjoyed the box with me.

I can't tell you much about this atoll, it's within the Eniwetok atolls. We have very little vegetation here, although the weather is about the best a person would want. It does get quite warm, often.

I want to thank you again Ladies. I hope to be able to come home and thank all of you personally. I'll say Goodbye for now till we can meet.

Sincerely yours,

Kenneth Stermer

My Dear Mrs. Clark and the Ladies Club:

A few lines to let you know that on the 13th of March I received your Xmas package. It arrived in good condition and the contents have been disposed of in the proper manner. It is nice to know that the "Home Town" remembers the boys that are away.

I am fine, eat good, and my thoughts are of when we can go home for good. So thanks and best wishes to all.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"That's news to me, Judge. From the way some people talk you would think it was at least 50%."

"No, Clem, there's the statement right here in the paper... from authorities who have made an exhaustive study of the subject. Only about 5% of the people who drink occasionally abuse the privilege... 95% drink sensibly."

"No wonder you say it wouldn't be fair to take the privilege away from the other 95%, Judge. I agree with you."

"I can't see it any other way, Clem. No more than I could see taking automobiles away from everybody because a few drive recklessly and have accidents. Or preventing the making or sale of cake or doughnuts because some folks eat too much and get indigestion."

"In the case of spirit beverages, the answer is one of education and better control."

"As a matter of fact, the responsible members of that industry are working constantly toward that end. They don't want folks to abuse the use of their product any more than we do."

This advertisement sponsored by Conference of Alcoholic Beverage Industries, Inc.

ONLY a few years ago, almost the entire country started pulling for the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Dodgers were the people's choice, or chalice. But this season as a lone bystander or spectator, I'm pulling for Connie Mack's Athletics. Which means Connie Mack.

With the respect in which Connie Mack is held in this country, with all the publicity he has drawn, I still doubt that the United States quite appreciates what Connie Mack has meant to the integrity, to the cleanness, to the all-out sportsmanship of baseball; virtues which should belong to all games.

I don't believe the majority of the people know or understand the great job Connie has done through more than 60 years in promoting these ideals, which are far above the nine pennants and the many World Series his teams have won. There have been many smart managers and many smart owners. But no one else who could match what Connie Mack has contributed to baseball and to sport in general, as player, manager and owner—or one who could say with Victor Hugo: "The snows of winter may be on my head, but the sunshine of eternal spring is in my heart."

Forty Years Ago

Coming up from the south, I first met Connie in the World Series of 1905. That was the year when Christy Mathewson wrecked the Athletics with three successive shut-outs. Connie Mack was then well over 40 years old. He was supposed to be past his prime, over four decades ago. But after that 1905 Series I found that Mr. Mack had no alibi of any sort to offer. He had only praise for the great pitching of Matty, who held his hard-hitting team to 13 singles in 3 games. "What a pitcher," Connie said then. "What a pitcher." He had nothing to say about the absence of his great pitcher, Rube Waddell, who had been injured before the series and couldn't even throw a ball.

It may be the younger generation doesn't know so much about Mr. Mack.

Well, at the age of 82 or 83, or whatever it is (who bothers about the years, anyway), Connie is a lean, tall, gray-haired fellow as straight as a south Georgia pine. The last time I saw him was the 1944 World Series in St. Louis—between the Cardinals and Browns—when he looked to be the keenest of all the flock that follows any World Series show.

We talked of the days when he dug up the greatest bunch of left-handers that ever worked for any ball club. Connie was always partial to southpaws—Rube Waddell, Herb Pennock (rated by Bill Hanna as the greatest of them all), Eddie Plank (the Gettysburg Guide), and Lefty Grove—certainly one of the best.

It was also Connie Mack who dug up one of the great infielders of baseball—even if you have forgotten their names—Stuffy McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry and Home-Run Frank Baker. Kindly name me a greater infielder?

A Great Sportsman

In these last 40 years I have never seen or met Connie Mack when he wasn't kind and considerate of all concerned—ballplayers, baseball writers and the public at large. He merely happened to be a great sportsman. And we can use a lot more great sportsmen than we have today. He has nothing to cover up—nothing to explain. For 60 years he has stood four square against all the winds that blow in sport, and many of these are adverse winds.

There was never any "dead pan" about Connie. He had a quaint sense of humor. The tough breaks never bothered him. "It all belongs in the game," he used to say. "You get the good ones and you get the bad ones. It all averages up."

Some time ago I was kidding Ty Cobb as to whether he or Babe Ruth was the greatest ballplayer.

"Why pick on Ruth or me," Cobb said. "Why not turn to Connie Mack? Mr. Mack has done more for baseball and sportsmanship in general than any two men that ever lived. He is the ablest man and the squarest shooter I've ever known—and 60 working years couldn't knock him down."

That's one of the reasons I'm pulling for Connie Mack and his Athletics through 1945.

Country of Youth

This is a young country, and it should be the country of youth. They are the ones who should take charge—not the older men who rarely hear a shot fired in anger.

What we need is a sporting program for these 10,000,000 or 12,000,000 war servicemen, which army and navy are now arranging, to take up the physical and mental slack. Tennis, golf, baseball and basketball will do more to "rehabilitate" these battle-weary heroes than anything else.

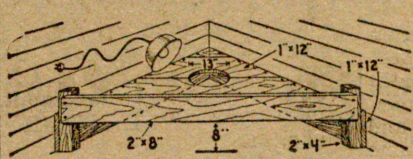

Homemade Electric Pig Brooder of Value

Simple to Construct
And Easy to Operate

THE electric pig brooder is fast becoming popular and profitable on farms where pigs are farrowed in late winter or early spring. The brooder prevents chilling and keeps sows from lying on pigs—the common causes of losses.

Death losses of early spring pigs were reduced from 34.3 to 16.9 per cent by the use of electric brooders in Indiana tests. Electric brooders saved an average of 1½ more pigs per litter.

An electric pig brooder is inexpensive and easy to make. On many a farm there are enough pieces of lumber to make one or more brooders. The sketch shows how to make an electric brooder to put in one corner of the farrowing pen.

For the first few days use a 150-watt lamp if the weather is extremely cold. At the end of a week, a 60-watt bulb may supply enough heat. When pigs are 10 days or two weeks old, heat can be discontinued.

It is important to use a rubber-covered shop extension cord complete with rubber-covered socket. Standard brass shell sockets are not suited to this type of use. It is also important to protect the brooder with a plank nailed across the corner, so a nervous sow cannot destroy it.

ARBOR DAY FATHER

J. Sterling Morton, while governor of Nebraska, due to his passion for tree planting, founded Arbor day.

When Cleveland returned to the presidency in 1892, he appointed Morton secretary of agriculture.

J. Sterling Morton was born in New York and enjoyed the distinction of having been expelled from the University of Michigan for his independence. He had located in Nebraska City, where he entered politics and became editor of the Nebraska City News.

While secretary of agriculture, he reorganized the division of statistics and set up the division of agrostology to study forage plants. He established the division of publications, the office of road inquiry and organized a dairy division.

Arbor day is held in Nebraska on April 22, the birthday of J. Sterling Morton, "the Father of Arbor Day."

DDT Unavailable Now

Although DDT, the new marvel insecticide, has proved effective in preventing damage to fruits, cabbage, potato and other crops, it probably will be released for household and barn use long before it is available for crop spraying.

New experimental work indicates that it is effective when used with certain paints for fly control in barns, houses and other buildings. The available date for general use is uncertain.

So Clever

By ALICE WRIGHT
McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
WNU Features.

SATSUMA strutted on his bantam legs as he worked about the hedges of the park close to the great shipyards. So clever! Many things could be concealed among the lowly tools, and many too beneath the humble guise of a gardener. But no temporary abasement was too much when it was for the glory of the Rising Sun. None—not even the killing of one's own brother.

It had been so easy to be smuggled into the barbarians' country and make his way to where lived his brother Mitsuna in this mid-western city of shipbuilding along the muddy river. A swift rip of the knife, a note of resignation to the Yankee capitalist who had employed Mitsuna as yard boy, and Satsuma became Mitsuna, a naturalized citizen of the United States whose record was faultless in the eyes of the investigators.

He spat venomously as he recalled the large, lazy man with so sharp eyes who pretended to enjoy the park while he was observing Satsuma. But Satsuma was too smart to be caught off guard and, by ways known to himself, he had discovered that the man, also disguised in humble dress, was Lieutenant Roland Mason of Naval Intelligence.

As the morning wore on he began to wish that Lieutenant Mason would appear. It would be so good to fool him with his new ruse, to look so stupid while knowing he was being so clever. His shears clipped sharply along the hedge, his bright little eyes intently watching the entrance to the park.

Ah! The lazy-looking one had entered and seated himself on a bench across the lagoon. It took Satsuma over half an hour to move toward him, methodically clipping as if oblivious to the other's presence. Satsuma had patience. If Lieutenant

Ah! The lazy-looking one had entered and seated himself.

Mason should decide to speak he would halt and prattle in the loose American fashion though he would be guiding the conversation to an objective. If not, he would continue on his way and await another opportunity.

"Nice day," Lieutenant Mason's voice was as lazy as he pretended to be, and his eyes regarded Satsuma dully.

Satsuma straightened, a mask of stolidity slipping over his features. "Very nice," he said in careful English. He could not resist adding, "You visit often."

"I like the view. Don't you?" Satsuma gazed around the park, carefully avoiding the yards. "Much work," he shrugged.

"It helps to keep up appearances," Mason idly tapped the newspaper he was holding. "You Chinese are making it plenty tough for the monkey-men."

Although his spirit writhed under the double insult Satsuma was too wary to let the lieutenant know his barb had hit home. "I am good American citizen," he smiled blandly and bent to resume his work.

Now was the time to let the picture work itself out of his pocket. The lieutenant would rise to the bait.

The fact that he and his brother looked much alike had made Satsuma's precaution simple. He had secured a car of the same make and year as Mitsuna's, had pored over the records at the courthouse to get the correct license number, and had manufactured a plate of that same year. Then, a snapshot of himself in front of the automobile with the license showing.

At last the photograph fell from his pocket, and Satsuma moved slowly on his way. He barely concealed a triumphant grin as he saw the slow one move swiftly for it and examine it with so sharp eyes before he called in his slow voice, "You dropped something!"

"Ah yess! Thank you so much." Satsuma returned with a gleam of something akin to pleasure in his bright little eyes. As he held out his hand to take the picture the cold bite of metal snapped over his wrist.

"So sorry!" Lieutenant Mason's voice crackled. "You Japs are so good at copying. Too bad! But in Missouri in 1943 the licenses were only small tags set over the outdated large metal ones which you have taken the pains to reproduce. You see, the metal we saved that way has long been flying over Tokyo."

Dawn coming out into the sky to put the stars to sleep.

Among the town's little heroes: Civilian defense workers who are still carrying on their duties. . . . Gigantic fingers of silence gripping the city at dawn. So quiet you can hear the click of traffic lights as they switch colors. . . . The touching goodbyes between soldiers and their loved ones at depots. "I'll write you every day, honey!" . . . Sabbath morning church-belloquence which seems to fit the silence rather than break it. . . . A scoop of afternoon sun being served on a platter of whipped cream clouds. . . . Broadwayites clogging all-night cafeterias—sipping coffee while nibbling on a side-dish of conversation. . . . Rockefeller Center gal guides who are more arresting than any of the sights they point out.

Broadwayites straining talk through their cigars as they stand on street corners tossing away precious minutes they can never hope to retrieve. . . . Movie stars rushing around town convoyed by a fleet of press agents.

The slanty penmanship of rain scribbling its unruly signature on window panes. . . . Darkened skyscrapers putting shadows on stilts as they stand guard over the streets all through the night.

Cool, clear nights when you can even see baby stars staying out all night. . . . Agonized cries of foghorns along the waterfront sandpaping the hush of the night.

The lady garbed in a flowing white gown who strolls along Sixth Ave. distributing religious pamphlets. A decade ago she was a well-known actress. . . . Mobs rushing to stores (where ciggies are being sold) as if it were a gold rush. . . . Feminine swankies chin deep in mink lolling in swanky eateries where they turn the private lives of friends inside out. . . . The hackrobatics of cabbies jeeving their way through traffic. . . . Table-sitting orators in cafes trying to breathe the life of an idea into a mouthful of dead words.
